these letters were opened." Israeli Embassy officials refused to reveal the identity of the diplomat to whom the letters were addressed. But French sources said the intendrecipients were Mrs. Miriam Anne-Marie Lambert, Israel's Ambassador to Unesco who is presently abroad, and Mr. Eliezer Yapou, Cultural Counsellor at the Embassy.

Mr. Avraham Primor, the Embassy's press counsellor, said over the French radio last might that the two booby-trapped letters 'looked ordinary envelopes, although they seemed slightly builder than normal letters."

According to Israel Radio the letters sent to the Israel Mission in Geneva were addressed to the Ambassador. Mr. Shebtai Rosenne, and to First Secretary Mosha Melamed. Israel Radio reported last night. The bombs, which were also sent from Amsterdam, were intercepted before they could do any damage.

DENUNCIATION BY EBAN

Foreign Minister Abba Eban expressed shock yesterday at the killing in London of Ami Shehori and denounced the act as one committed by persons bent on sowing destruction."The shedders of innocent blood, their supporters and those who aid them will meet their just deserts," he said in a statement.

Mr. Eban described Shehori as "a man of the soil who devoted his life to upbuilding and creation."

tural counsellor to the Israel Embassy here, Dr. Ami Shehori, was killed yesterday morning as he opened a booby-trapped letter — one of five which were sent to the Embassy.

The four others were discovered in time. Wounded in the explosion was Mr. Theo Kedar, who was due to take over Shehori's post. The Embassy staff discovered two booby-trapped letters addres-sed to Minister Eitan Ruppin and consular affairs counsellor Matti Dayan earlier in the morning. News of this event was not immediately relayed to the rest of the staff, and while an investigation was proceeding a blast was heard from the first floor room of the agricultural counsellor.

New T.A. law: Fix your house or pay a fine

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. — A new municipal

by-law passed by the City Council will make it mandatory for home owners to make renovations and repairs to home exteriors which city inspectors deem necessary.

The law also forbids hanging laundry from the front balconies of apartment buildings. Anyone who violates any clause of the new by-law is liable for a IL500 fine, with a IL120 fine to be imposed for every day of non-compliance. The aim of the law is to insure better upkeep of building exteriors here. It will apply both to apartment owners and to landlords. The law gives the city the right to demand that a home owner either repair, renovate, or remove anything which mars his building's appearance.

make the repairs within a time

The city spokesman explained to The Jerusalem Post that the city will send its own men to do the job when homeowners or landlords fail to comply with city demands, and home owners will later be billed for the work,

Rabin pleased with new U.S. Mid-East line

LOD AIRPORT — Israel's Ambassador to Washington, Mr. Yitzhak Rabin, said yesterday the U.S. has adopted a policy of giving preference to the fight against terrorism before attempting to find a political solu-tion to the Middle East conflict.

Speaking to reporters here shortly before returning to his post after a brief visit, Mr. Rabin said the U.S. Owners and residents in buildings has launched a vigourous campaign whose exteriors are found to be to arouse world public opinion to neglected will receive a notice from eliminate terrorism. This was in the city detailing the work to be distinct contrast to former U.S. podone. Home owners will have to licy, which aimed at finding a political solution first, in the hope that when this was achieved terrorism would disappear, he said.

He said the State Department's official reaction to the Lebanon raid clearly stressed the cause and effect relationship between terrorist acts and Israel's action in Lebanon. Labour Party sources yesterday confirmed that Mr. Rabin obtained a commitment from the party lead-ership that he will be given a safe seat on the 1973 Knesset candidates' list, and that he will be included in the next Cabinet.

The sources said Mr. Rabin obtained this promise from Premier Golda Meir and Finance Minister Pinhas Sapir. He will probably be the party list.

The new restriction imposed by the Soviet authorities in demanding that Jews with higher education who wish to emigrate must repay the cost of their education, in amounts ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 and over, is not merely a new form of harassment and curtailment of the elementary human right to leave one's country, it is a measure that is particularly difficult to comprehend by Soviet standards.

"The Soviet Union has understandably prided itself on the great progress it has made in providing free education," Goldmann said.

"It is an unworthy blot on this record if the right to education is now used to penalize people who have availed themselves of it, as Jews have done in large numbers, and turned into an instrument of denial of another right, namely that of emigration." Goldmann said Moscow should

THE FIRST VOLKSWAGEN THAT WAS CHANGED FOR REASONS OF BEAUTY ONLY

Since we first started making cars we've only changed them for one reason.

To make them work better.

ALLIED ADV.

In the case of the VW 412 it's a little different. Its predecessor, the 411, has been around for about 4 years and its technical design is still valid.

There are still few cars around that offer a sports car chassis with trailing arm rear axle, and luxury equipment. Without exaggeration the VW 411 can be described as one of the best and most mature design in the mediumpriced car category.

But it also has a weak point. Its shape is not to everybody's taste. And that is why we have given it a face lift. In a flowing line the bonnet slopes down to the waist line. The side walls have been inclined accordingly. The recessed twin halogen headlights have been organically integrated into the somewhat lower line of the bonnet. And the raised indicators add the finishing touch to the racy and rakish body styling.

So, we've really only improved its appearance. The only thing worth improving. The new VW 412.

VW means more.

A careful study of the Soviet press leads Frankel to the definite conclusion that it was the internal Jewish problem which dominated the decision-making process. For one ffairs). Examination does not show a correlation between the timing of such attacks and the Middle East situation. Equally out of step with the anti-Zionist campaigns are the rates of Jewish emigration from Russia to Israel The considerable emigration started in March, 1971; the massive end of 1969. It was immediately preceded by the publication by the Israel Government of the letter from the 18 Georgian Jewish families to the U.N. Commission on Human Rights. Israel's decision to give this wide publicity was generally seen as a new stage in the worldwide campaign on behalf of Soviet Jews. The Soviet Government regarded this as a direct challenge. Although the Soviet press never mentioned the letter of the eighteen, it was doubtless no mere coincidence that "Pravda" opened its counter campaign with an article from Georgia.

Kahane's League

This campaign continued for the first part of 1970 and then ran down. In January, 1971, Zionism again was regularly attacked in the Soviet press. The main theme now was Meir Kahane and the Jewish Defence League. This was somewhat surprising as the J.D.L. had been barassing Soviet officials for two years without enjoying extensive publicity in the Soviet press. But this must be seen as the Soviet response to the reactions to the first Leningrad Trial which had een held in December, 1970.

In fact, the Soviet Government was carrying on a strange dialogue with its Jewish citizens. The government made massive use of the media while the dissenting Jews could respond only through ways unpublicized in the U.S.S.R. It was hard for the outsider to recognize the disfogue because he only saw one side — although Russia could not entirely drown the other side — and he was not hit forge ahead.

Frankel then asks: How effective were the anti-Zionist campaigns as a response to the voices of Jewish dissent and the demands for emi-

It would be wrong to dismiss the Soylet propaganda as simply in-effective. The authorities could use all the media - ami they took care pitch their arguments at two levels. There were the traditional ideological arguments, reinforced by historical and contemporary example, meant to appeal to the youth, the intellectuals and the Party faithful And there were bread-and-butter arsuments for the man-in-the-street based on mundane problems such as economic security, employment and education.

Against Zionist ideology, Soviet propagandists moved on three fronts. First was the class argument - Zionism, the weapon of bourgeoisle and capitalism (among other "evidence" marshalled was the presence of Meyer Lansky in Israel). Second was the related sin of imperialism. The third charge was chauvinism— the Zionists had opted for exclusiveness. Soviet society, it was asserted offered the Jews equality, security and opportunity in contrast to the capitalist exploitation, militant im-perialism and racism chracteristic of the Zionist state. Suddenly the Soviet press began to play up the role of the Jews in the Red Army during World War II and the many distinctions attained by Soviet Jews - a line which had previously been reserved for export

Mass appeal

Soviet propaganda was not un-ersuasive. Leninist internationalism has had a mass appeal to Jews. Conditions in Israel are not easy for newcomers so this aspect was easy to exploit. But in general it seems that Soviet anti-Zionism at this per-iod was largely counter-productive. This resulted from three failings in the Soviet approach - a con tempt for factual accuracy (the isolation of Russian Jewry is no longer what it was 20 years ago and dis-tortion or error is soon picked up); its onesided interpretation of the Jewish situation in the U.S.S.R.; and a marked preference for intimi-dation rather than persuasion.

In the course of time, the cam paign took on a hysterical note - perhaps the result of a delibe-rate attempt to induce the masses — and primarily the Jews — into supporting the Soviet military stance in the Middle East. Gradually, Stalinist tones - which had been muted in the past — began to make themselves heard. For one thing, there was the tendency to push arguments which are controversial but not absurd to incredible conclusions: this led to the oft-repeated identification of Zionism with Nazism. If this was reminiscent of Stalinist dialectics, so the description of the Zionist Movement and international Jewish bodies as esplonage centres was reminiscent of charges made in the 1930s and early 1950s. (The Statinist Impact, however, was not uniform and differed from paper to paper - thus the army paper took a hard line while the Georgian paper was reluctant to become involved in a witch-hunt and stressed the achievements of Russian Jewry and their attachment to the land of their hirth).

The division between would-be Leninists and neo-Stalinists attitudes must reflect deep divisions in offi-cial thinking. Frankel concludes that the crude intimidation practised by the neo-Stalinists must have effectively sabotaged the Leninist-type attempts at persuasion, making the anti-Zionist campaigns counterprobomb, people have been talking about using it, and possibly its big brother, the thermonuclear (hydrogen) bomb, for peaceful purposes.

Now, 27 years later, the experts are beginning to reappraise some of the problems associated with the peaceful (or, as some cynics put it, "pieces-full") use of nuclear explosives, and, in the shadow of such political problems as the Salt talks are revising some of their 6 Sadly, one sees them run. down (5)

original and more grandlose claims. The engineering concepts of today envision the use of explosive devices with an energy output varying between a few dozen kilotons, and a number of megatons. (A kiloton is the equivalent of approximately 1,000 tons of TNT, a megaton, one million tons of TNT.) The different effects would depend on the place of detonation - either on, or close to, the surface, giving what is called an "uncontained explosion," or at the bottom of a shaft, giving a "contained explosion." Obviously each type of detonation has its own uses and side effects.

The contained type will probably be tried first. This will form a form a closed cavity, with most of the pol-lutants trapped inside. The underground cavity will have gas pump-ed in and withdrawn at will. It

Will in fact be a large "gas balloon" used for storage. A similar project would utilize such a cavity to store oil. By this means, surplus gas and oil could be stored only poorly. ing use of expensive, dangerous and vulnerable surface storage techniques.

To make a cavity of appreciable by conventional techniques would be prohibitively expensive.
Contained explosions could also be used in existing of and gas wells to increase yields by fragmenting the rock surrounding the bore hole, thereby enlarging it, and even by placing a number of charges one above the other, so as to increase the effective size and depth of the well.

Problems

This sounds all very well but now let us look at some of the problems. Given the state of the art today the cavity would be heavily contaminated with radioactive materials, mostly two gases, Tritium and Krypton-85, which would mix with the gas being pumped in. Furthermore, the effects of the explosions on the surrounding rock, and such factors as cavity size, and and permeability of the rock are still largely unknown. Much research is still needed in these fields, although the basic knowledge already

There are two other large-scale proposals for the use of contained explosions. BAR-LEV:

Price controls hit industry

By AARON SITTNER Jerusalem Post Reporter

Continued price control in the face of uncontrolled wage increases poses a long-term danger to the economy, Commerce and Industry Minister Haim Bar-Lev warned on Friday. Mr. Bar Lev, acompanied by Assistant Director-General Moshe Mandelbaum, was appearing before the Knesset Finance Committee.

He said that by and large Israeli manufacturers had raised their prices in direct proportion to the higher prices they have had to pay for imported materials, as a result of the devaluation in August 1971. On the other hand, he said, they had absorbed price increases resulting from higher costs originating locally. Thus, while the cost of imported components rose by an average of 24 per cent, the overall price increase to the consumer was in the 12 per cent range.

The present system of limited price control, acording to Mr. Bar-Lev, not only fails to stabilize prices but harms industrial development He warned that a number of firms may go out of business, and potential businessmen would cancel their plans of investing in industry.

To underscore this point, the Minister said that applications for approval of investments received at the Ministry's Investment Centre during the January-August period totalled IL589m., compared with IL766m, during the same period last HAIFA. - The local Labour Council yesterday filed legal notice of a labour dispute on behalf of the 1,200 employees of the Post Office's Engineering Department.

The Communications Minister had personally promised them "effort in-centives" if they joined in a special "telephone installation action," the Council said, but had reneged after the Civil Service Commissioner vetoed the extra pay - after the men had started working harder to get more phones installed.

"The Civil Service Commission is only acting as an agent of procrastination and interference," they said.

MURDER IN LONDON

T needs a murder such as that at the Israel Embassy in London yesterday morning to remind us that crime and tragedy are not counted by numbers. One needless death is as tragic, and one murder as unforgivable, as the 11 or 26 that we have recently had to experience.

The operative word here is "unforgivable," and it has taken on a very specific meaning under the present circumstances. The "Black September" group — if it is an organized group and not a series of teams recruited for single actions — has not told the world exactly what its sims are. To engineer the return of the areas occupied by Israel in 1967? To "de-Zionize" Israel and destroy its sovereignty, so that its people become a minority in a Palestine State? That was, roughly, the formula offered by Yasser Arafat, who has since been tossed aside as insufficiently repollutionary. To make the gree revolutionary. To make the area a Soviet satellite? Now that the Russians have found themselves obliged to withdraw from Egypt, and the funds come from Libya? To push the Jews into the sea, as the phrase went in the months and weeks before the war in 1967? Or do they really commit murder after shocking murder simply in order to remind the world of their existence and protest on behalf of Pales-

The first thing they should realize in this case — they and the writers and broadcasters in the West who so assiduously plead the cause of the terrorists - is that however hateful these senseless murders are to us, they cannot destroy or even weaken the State of Israel. There are three million people here who must continue to live their normal lives even if frustrated terrorists wreak murder, vengeance and spite abroad on every civilian abroad whose vigi-lance is relaxed even for a moment. It is a battle that cannot be won in this way. Israel will not disappear or commit collec-tive suicide: it could not even if someone were to be found to say he does not wish to fight a battle that trades only in the lives of non-combatants.

There is one immediate consequence to these murders. The Egyptians may or may not have close connections with the "Black September" assassins. Egypt took no action against the killers of Jordanian Premier Wash Tal, and they did not care to be involved in the matter of the Israeli athletes in Munich, and this may indicate support.
After the Munich killing, they offered their congratulations.

If anything was needed to convince Israel that the atmosphere in Egypt is not yet ripe for peace it is these congratula-tions on the murder of Israelis. The British Foreign Secretary has been telling his Egyptian opposite number over the past few days that he knows both Egypt and Israel desire peace. He is wrong. Egypt is not looking for peace, only for some-thing that it could represent as a diplomatic or political victory over Israel. And Israel is not ready for anything but secure defences against Egypt, not after the events of the past

There are students of Middle Eastern affairs who say that the Palestinians in Europe fear nothing more than the evident desire of many Palestinians here to live at peace, and that their main desire is to sabotage the co-existence on the West Bank, and between Israel and Jordan. Even in this the "Black September will not be successful, but they may prevent any kind of agreement favouring Palestinian

The paper writes: "The more the Western European countries employ their influence on the Lebanese Government to remove the bases of murderous activity against Israel, the greater the service they will be performing for Lebanon and the Lebenese nation — aside from serving the cause of continued calm in the region." In conclusion, the paper writes: 'The Lebanese Government now faces the crucial test. Removal of the terrorists is its function, and it is not an impossible

Sir, — The High Court of uJstre has now confirmed the authority of the Minister of Interior to use his discretion in interpreting the Law of Return and to refuse immigrant status to Mr. Meyer Lansky. The Minister therefore enjoys the Sir, — I read the letter by Mr. on. At the time, we stated that foshe Binyamin Galaurkar entitled the medical director of the Rishon questionable power to decide the fate of this man who had come When the doctor refused to come" Lezion district of Kupat Holim had to Israel with the intention of turning (June 27) in which he holds the asked the Medical Association to his back on a past which has been Lod Kupst Holim doctor responsible remove from the duty rester the clouded with ugly publicity, and of spending his remaining days in peace. The Minister holds a power spproaching that which is in the hands of God — to decide a man's for his father's death. This is the season of year when we pray to the Almighty to forgive, to pardon, to condone, to have pity and compassion. We note that God does not insist on punishment but that the sinner turn from his evil ways, and live.

Surely the Minister of Interior can display a little of that compassion for which he himself has prayed, and — in his discretion, which is absolute - permit Mr. Lansky to re-main. Public opinion would surely support him in such a display of CARL ALPERT

To the Editor of The Jerusalem Post found unsuitable. They will shortly it is in the way in which the in cooperation with the Municipal ed the collection of newspapers and the City and the Hadera Paper AVAILABLE EVERYWHERE allowed it to fade out. One after Mills.
another, the collecting bins in Jerusalem have been quietly removed, without a word of explanation or apology to the public which had gradually been trained to dispose of newspapers in this useful fashion. A telephone call to the Committee elicited a denial that lack of demand at the Hadera paper mills had anything to do with it. Is it, then, just a case of the Committee not wanting to be bothered? Then they must say so.
